

Maria J. Falco, Phd

Upon graduation from college, Maria Falco was a Fulbright student at the University of Florence in Italy, and received her PhD from Bryn Mawr College in Pennsylvania. She continued her Post Doctoral studies in Research Methodology at Yale University and the University of Michigan. She served as a Professor of Political Science and university administrator at several colleges and universities, and eventually as the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Loyola University in New Orleans. Over-all she has written and edited six books, including one on Machiavelli, and a number of articles in professional journals and other publications.

Since retiring, she became the Webmaster for the American Italian Federation of the Southeast (www.aifedse.org.) and for the East Jefferson Italian American Society (www.ejiasociety.org.) She is also the Historian for the Italian American Digest (Quarterly) of New Orleans, and serves as the liaison between the Federation and the New Orleans Opera Association. In that capacity she has written several Opera Previews for the Digest as well as articles on personalities and events in Italian history. The current publication on the Unification of Italy was originally written for the Digest as well. For additional information and articles, please visit her personal website (www.falcosaerie.me.) and her biography as referenced in Who's Who in America, and Who's Who in the World.
